

Corporate restructuring

Corporate entities evolve through time and this can involve necessary structural changes. Our specialists will work with you to find the right solutions and will ensure that technical requirements are dealt with effectively.

The structure of corporate entities and groups may need to be adjusted for various reasons including ownership, tax, income recognition and simplifying group structures. Frequently it is necessary to reorganise prior to a disinvestment to ensure that assets and liabilities are in the right place. We provide clear advice, often working closely with tax advisers, on designing and structuring optimal solutions and implementing them.

What we do

We advise clients on a wide range of corporate structuring transactions including:

- merging corporate entities
- group reorganisations including transfers of assets and undertakings
- simplifying group structures
- de-mergers involving reconstruction schemes
- returning capital to shareholders using capital reduction schemes and other methods
- share buy-backs

- share capital reconstruction including conversions, consolidations and splits.
